Corporate Membership

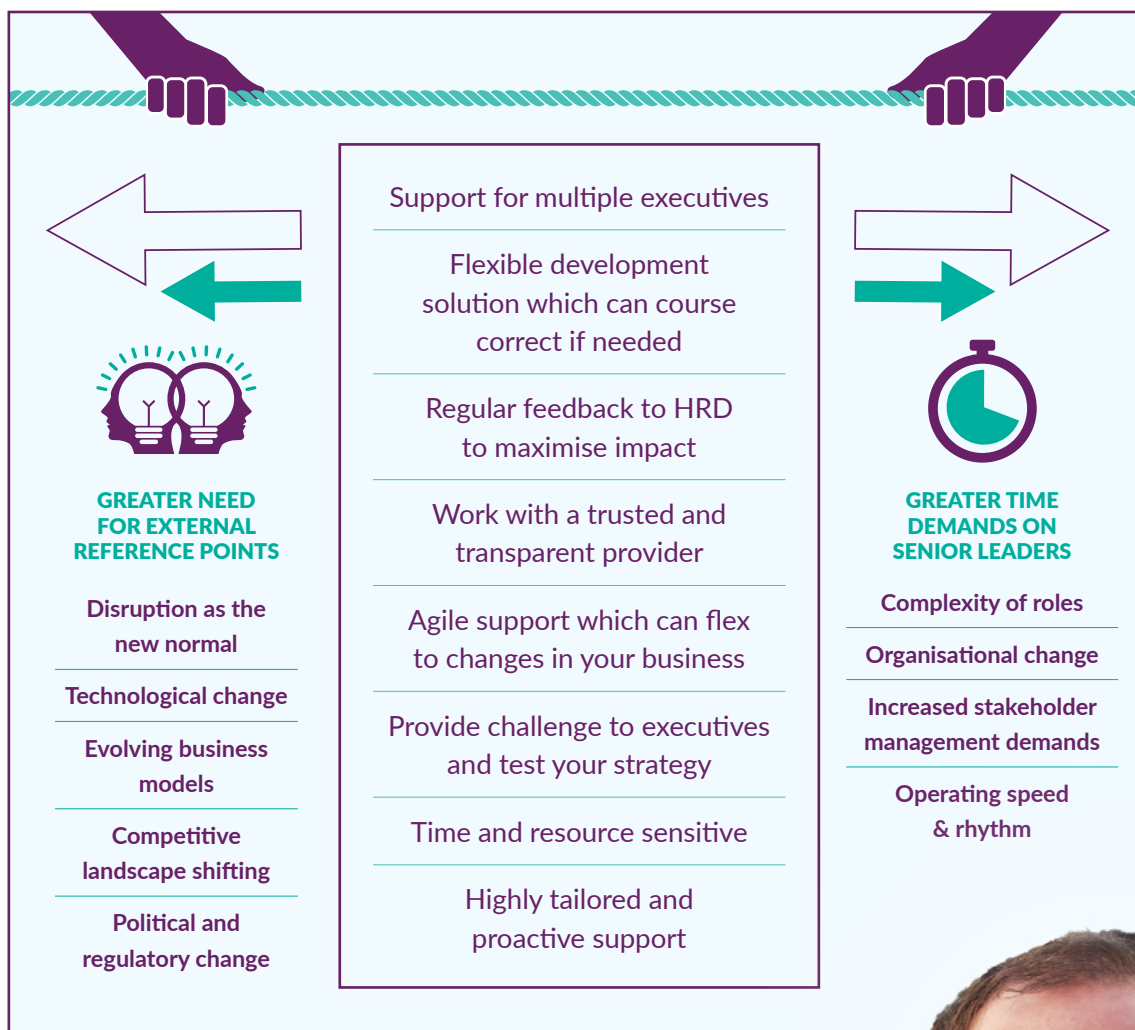

A Challenging Landscape

Criticaleye is the peer-to-peer Board Community with more than 20 years of experience in transforming executives and leadership teams globally.

We understand you and your leadership team are operating in an increasingly complex world. Changing pace and a difficult macroeconomic climate create myriad new challenges for your senior team. Human Resources Directors need a development solution which flexibly supports multiple executives, elevates individual and team performance and is agile enough to flex and course correct where needed.

What Support do you need?

“The type of support senior executives need has to consider the unprecedented pace of change and heightened pressure leaders are under. You require a solution which can respond to what’s going on within your business and the wider environment. It has to be flexible enough to address the challenges you are facing, even if these are frequently changing.”

Neil Danks, Senior Business Development Manager, Criticleye

What is Corporate Membership?

Every interaction with Criticaleye is designed to inspire, energise and enable executives and their teams to address challenges, perform at the highest level and create positive change.

We provide our Members with the tools and insights necessary to validate and execute a successful strategy, manage multiple stakeholders and address leadership challenges.

Our Corporate Membership package offers organisations collective access to Criticaleye for five or more executives for a minimum of two years.

Individuals within this collective will receive bespoke support via a dedicated Relationship Manager and Account Manager, the latter playing a pivotal role in overseeing activity across executives and providing detailed reporting.

Why choose Corporate Membership?

We support our Corporate Members in a number of ways.

Taken from research by Criticleye into the most common challenges for Corporate Members.

“Criticleye’s Corporate Membership package provides personalised leadership development for executives, while simultaneously considering how the programme can build collective and strategic skills for the business. The combination of opportunities, from mentoring, events, and peer connections within the global Community, to the ability to swap executives in and out of the programme if needed, make this membership extremely valuable.”
